What is the current status of your research project (e.g., topic identification, currently on-going):

Please provide a brief narrative to the questions below. This part of the application can be written by either team member.
Describe the topic of the proposed research, or the research project in technology for independence.
Why is the topic important to the disability community (either to your local community or the disability community in general)? [What is the proposed relevance and potential impact of the research to people with disabilities?]
Why do you want to engage in a collaborative research project with a community-based and university-based research team?
Briefly describe the mission of both your community-based organization and university-based research center or organization.
How will the trainings and symposium assist your team to conduct the proposed or current research project?

Your application should include all of the following:

- 1. The completed cover sheet for each team member.
- 2. A brief narrative addressing each question.
- 3. An autobiographical statement, resume, or curriculum vitae for each team leaders.

A copy of the application and attachments must be received at the Law, Health Policy & Disability Center on or before March 7, 2003.

Regular mail and E-mail submissions are acceptable. Please do not submit application materials via fax. E-mail submissions should include the cover sheet and other requested documents as attachments to the e-mail, and should be emailed to szweiss@bellsouth.net

If you have questions regarding the application or project, please contact Sally Weiss at (828) 456-9290 [voice] or (319) 353-5828 [TTY].
